Town welcomes Princess Royal

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Haverhill was honoured to welcome a royal visitor during a series of special events on Tuesday.

Young people, local dignitaries and businesses have all said how privileged they are to have had royalty grace Haverhill.

Princess Anne landed in a helicopter on the school field at Samuel Ward Academy before visiting three town sites to unveil plaques bearing her name.

Her timely visit marked the official opening of Samuel Ward's Sports Hall, Haverhill House – a new hub for public services – and the 30th anniversary of biotech firm Genzyme being based in the town.

School students sang, played sports and talked nervously as the Princess Royal chatted with dozens of youngsters about their lives and aspirations, leaving many smiling and laughing as she charmed the crowds.

Samuel Ward pupil Alice Jackson, 14, who presented a posy to the Princess, revealed she was shaking with nerves at the task – but performed her duty with flying colours.

Haverhill town mayor Pat Hanlon said: "It's a great honour for Haverhill, especially if you can tell the Princess that Haverhill is a booming town even in these hard times."

"It's great that she's come to Samuel Ward in particular because this sports hall is fantastic to show off, as is the recent news that this is an outstanding school now. She has come at a great time for Haverhill and Samuel Ward."

Academy pupils are so honoured

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

YOUNG people were honoured to meet royalty when Princess Anne officially opened Samuel Ward Academy's sports centre.

After landing in a black and silver helicopter on the school's sports field, the elegant Princess Royal listened to 20 pupils from the school choir sing It's Time, before heading to the new multi-million pound sports facility.

Dressed in a knee-length navy blue coat teamed with black leather boots and an over-the-shoulder black handbag, Princess Anne spoke with dozens of pupils about their sporting activities, school life and the new centre before unveiling a plaque.

With crowds of invited guests gathered round, she said: "I hope you enjoy your new sports hall... I know one or two of you already have your eyes on the Olympics and I hope this year has inspired a few more of you."

Alice Jackson, 14, was chosen to give a posy of flowers to Her Royal Highness at the Chalkstone Way academy and said she was so nervous she could not stop shaking.

Alice said: "It was quite a relief to finally give them to her after watching her talk to everyone. It was an honour and I don't think I will ever forget doing this."

Principal Howard Lay said: "She took so much time talking to each child and that's part of our philosophy here. We always have time for everyone, so it's fantastic that she mirrored our values.

"It was an immense privilege and honour to have her here and we're very grateful for her coming. It's recognition of the success this school has had, and this school is putting sport at the heart of its success."

Youngsters bounced up and down on trampolines, played table tennis and showed off their cricket bowling skills while Princess Anne spoke with teachers and local dignitaries.

Rob Thompson, head of PE, said: "It was a bit surreal meeting Her Royal Highness but it is a fantastic opportunity to highlight the new facility that we've got to offer to the whole of Haverhill."

Working her way along a long line of students and local dignitaries, she spoke about everything from schoolwork and sporting achievements, to building the new centre and future careers.

Head girls Lauren Sullivan, 18, and Jamie-Leigh Jansen, 17, said it was a "big honour" to represent their school as they met royalty for the first time.

Lauren said: "She's such an iconic figure I was in awe of her. She's very friendly and approachable and was very interested in us."

Shake on it: with Haverhill mayor Pat Hanlon.

First royal visit marks 30 years of success

HER Royal Highness joined in celebrations at a Haverhill manufacturing site commemorating 30 years of success.

Staff at pharmaceutical and biotechnical firm Genzyme welcomed the Princess on Tuesday for the site's first royal visit.

Matthieu Cortinovis, general manager at Genzyme, said staff at Haverhill were thrilled to host the Princess.

He said: "The Royal visit helped celebrate 30 years of growth, innovation and development at Haverhill which was commemorated by the unveiling of a 30th anniversary plaque by the Princess Royal.

"Princess Anne was keen to find out more about Haverhill's achievements as well as our extensive commitment to employees, the local community and the surrounding area.

"We were delighted to be able to showcase the work we do at Haverhill by accompanying the Princess Royal on a guided tour of the site.

"Princess Anne was incredibly friendly – taking time to interact with staff and get to grips with what we do and how we work to make a real difference to the lives of patients."

A celebration event is also planned at Genzyme today where local dignitaries, schools and voluntary organisations along with long-standing staff members will be invited to tour the site and witness new innovative technologies developed by site employees in recent years.

Mr Cortinovis added: "We have developed a real sense of community here at Haverhill and I am immensely proud of our commitment to delivering treatments that impact positively on the lives of patients."

John Gamston, HR director, added: "As a successful company, we recognise that success stems from an engaged workforce who have opportunities to continually learn, develop and achieve.

"As we continue to develop, we look forward to providing new opportunities not only for our existing staff, but also for the people of Haverhill and the surrounding areas.

"As we move to the future, we are looking forward to building on our existing heritage and making the next 30 years as successful as the first."

Voluntary efforts praised at official opening of new hub

THE Princess Royal expressed her appreciation of the voluntary work carried out in Haverhill when she unveiled a plaque to mark the official opening of a public services hub in the town.

Haverhill House was officially opened by royalty to mark the coming together of two local councils and the voluntary sector which now shares the refurbished space in Lower Downs Slade.

On a tour of Haverhill House, Princess Anne met staff working for Suffolk County Council, St Edmundsbury Borough Council and the Citizens Advice Bureau, of which she is a patron.

Jane Ballard, chief officer of the Suffolk West CAB, said: "As our national patron, we were delighted to welcome The Princess Royal to Haverhill House.

"We were really impressed by her detailed knowledge of how the CAB operates and her appreciation of the work done by our volunteers.

"It was wonderful to introduce The Princess to our staff so that she could talk to them all individually. Recruiting volunteers is a significant piece of work for us and we spent a lot of time talking about our recent campaign."

Haverhill House is a joint project between local authorities saving the public sector about £50,000 annually as well as providing a "one-stop shop" providing easier access to services for residents.

Transport, Haverhill Association of Voluntary Organisations and Haverhill and District Volunteer Centre all share the building with the councils.

Cllr Anne Gower, St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet member for Haverhill, was the first person to welcome the Princess to the site and introduce her to staff.

She said: "She spoke to every single member of staff about their jobs and work. She was really great and such a professional.

"It was a joy to have her, and it was such a prestigious event for the town.

"Haverhill House is a one-stop-shop for residents and an example of how we work together. To have someone like her come to our town to open it is just fabulous."

Cllr Karen Richardson, Haverhill East ward, added: "It's enormously huge to the town for them to see Her Royal Highness here. It's huge prestige for Haverhill."

Haverhill House was identified as a building in which the public sector could work side-by-side last year because it was already owned by St Edmundsbury Borough Council and offers an ideal high street location from which to provide services to the public. Following refurbishment, Suffolk County Council staff from Camps Road and the Burton Centre moved into the building in July.

Haverhill Owls: The president opened the October meeting, welcoming members and visitors old and new and then went on to introduce the speaker for the evening – a representative of the local charity, the East Anglian Air Ambulance who went on to give a great insight into the work they do.

He explained that they are on call 365 days a year, operating two helicopters across Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridgeshire and Bedfordshire, saving many people's lives every day of the year, and able to reach injured people in what would otherwise be inaccessible places.

He explained that they receive no direct funding from the Government or the National Lottery and rely totally on funding from local people.

To that end he mentioned the East Anglian Air Ambulance Lottery and a number of members said they would be keen to sign up to help this very worthwhile cause.

A vote of thanks was given for this most interesting and enjoyable talk and they went on to discuss W.I. business, including asking members to come on to the committee as next month the much-loved president Sue Swain is stepping down after serving so well since the start up of Haverhill Owls.

Some discussion took place where and when to hold the Christmas celebration and it was decided to hold it in January when the members would have more free time.

The trip to the Cutty Sark will probably now take place in the spring and a number of members were keen to go on this.

There was also some discussion over the possibility of attending a studio recording of Loose Women or the Alan Titchmarsh Show.

Members were reminded of the fund-raising jumble sale which was held on October 20 at the library rooms.

The meeting ended with coffee and biscuits and a great deal of chat.

West Wrattling

COFFEE morning and soup kitchen, tea and cake will take place at West Wrattling Sports Pavilion tomorrow in aid of Each (the children's hospice at Milton).

Coffee will be served from 10am-noon; soup from noon-2pm; tea and cake from 2-4pm. There will also be a raffle, cake stall, tombola, Christmas cards, jewellery, soaps, and a bookstall.

Any donations will as always be gratefully received. Please contact Sara Boreham on (01223) 290259 or Kate Cleary on (01223) 290220.

■ The harvest festival at St Andrew's was a true tribute to the endeavours of local farmers.

It was good to fully recognise what the parish has generated for the good of everyone.

Sincere thanks to all who contributed.

■ Over-60s Club: At the October meeting, Janet Fallaize, the local Community Warden, who is employed by Age Concern, attended to update members on the various services provided by the scheme.

The last meeting of the club for this year will be a luncheon at The Chestnut Tree on Wednesday, November 7, at 1pm.

There will be a raffle only, no bring and buy.

Pre-school youngsters enjoy paper bug hunt

LITTLE ones donned their creepiest costumes to take part in a Hallowe'en bug hunt in Haverhill.

More than 55 miniature witches, skeletons and the like crept about collecting paper bugs during the event organised by the Friends of Stepping Stones at the pre-school on October 20.

Charlotte Ledain and Anna-Maire Edwards won prizes for accruing the most while Lilly Grace Smith and Joshua Smith picked up the awards for the best outfits in a fancy dress competition.

The event raised £159 which will be put towards the pre-school's Christmas party and hopefully tickets to a pantomime at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Man robbed in alleyway

THREE men robbed a man in Haverhill, leaving him with suspected broken ribs, cuts and bruising.

The 49-year-old man was walking along an alleyway off Camps Road between 9pm and 10pm on Friday when he was pushed from behind, causing him to fall to the floor.

Three men stood over him, searched his pockets and stole a black leather wallet, cash, a bank card and prescription medicine. Call Suffolk Police on 101 with information.

Motorist cut free

A MOTORIST was taken to hospital after his car rolled onto its roof.

Firefighters had to cut the side off the vehicle to release the man after the accident on the B1061 in Great Bradley. The man, in his 30s, was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital with injuries which were not thought to be life-threatening.

An air ambulance attended the crash at 9.05pm on Tuesday.

Tournament for children

FOOTBALL tournaments for children in Haverhill will be launched on Sunday.

A football tournament for youngsters in school years 5 and 6 will kick off the new regular events at Haverhill Leisure Centre, from 1pm to 4pm.

A second tournament for Years 7 and 8, for 12 and 13-year-olds, will take place on Sunday, December 2.

Hallowe'en incidents

TWO incidents of anti-social behaviour were reported to police on Hallowe'en.

The first incident in Haverhill was just before 7pm in the Montfort Court area, followed by another call at about 9.45pm in the Homefield Road area. Both calls related to anti-social behaviour but no arrests were made.

Fright night: people of all ages enjoy the Hallowe'en trail, above and below, and right, one of the spooks busy terrifying the thousands who made the trek. CP

Thousands brave the spooks of East Town Park

MORE than 2,500 vampires, witches and ghouls turned out for a spooky Hallowe'en trail event in Haverhill.

The annual Hallowe'en trail, which is a free event run by Haverhill Town Council, took place in East Town Park on Friday when hundreds of families in fancy dress costume were entertained with tricks and treats.

Ghostly pirates, Frankenstein's monster and Jacob Marley's ghost made an appearance and a fire show finale rounded off the evening.

Nick Keeble, arts and leisure manager for Haverhill Town Council, said: "The scariest things on the trail this year had to be the clowns. They were terrifying!"

"It was the longest trail we have ever done and it remains after 13 years one of the most popular events in the town council calendar."

The next free town council event will be the Christmas Weekend on Friday, December 7 and Saturday, December 8, which will include late night shopping and a fireworks display on the recreation ground.

Funeral plans at pub site are withdrawn

PLANS to turn a former pub into a funeral home have been withdrawn.

Homeowners were shocked to learn earlier this year that proposals had been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council to change the use of the former Vixen pub, in Strassbourg Square, Haverhill, into a funeral home.

This week, the Weekly News learned that the application has been withdrawn by applicant Mr R. Gwinell, who also runs Martin and Sons Funeral Directors and Monumental Masons in Clare.

Haverhill East councillor Gordon Cox said dozens of residents had approached him with "serious concerns" about the plans in the middle of the Chalkstone Estate.

He said: "I put in a number of objections myself and on behalf of residents."

"We already have two undertakers who do a very good job and residents had serious concerns about it being near to play areas,

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

children and near to a potential care home that was due to be built."

The Vixen was closed for about a year and boarded up before Greene King sold it earlier this year.

Work had already started on the internal part of the building when the application was submitted, Cllr Cox said.

The Anglican parish church also objected with the Rector of Haverhill, Canon Ian Finn, calling it an "inappropriate change of use".

He said the 24/7 nature of the business would mean disturbance caused to residents, there would be an increase in traffic and congestion if wakes were held on site, and it could have a possible negative effect on existing local businesses.

No one was available for comment at Martin and Sons at the time of going to press.

Fight to stop care home closure is lost

AN eleventh-hour bid to prevent the closure of a care home has been crushed.

A 4,000-signature petition opposing the move was compiled by Haverhill Town Council to save Place Court, in Camps Road, but Suffolk County Council announced last month its plan for the home to close and be replaced as part of a £60 million investment in its residential care.

However, the decision made by the council's cabinet was "called in" by six opposition councillors and work was put on hold, until their evidence was heard by the council yesterday.

Having heard their case, members of the committee endorsed the original decision to transfer the council's care homes to Care UK.

Under the plan the county's existing 16 residential homes and eight community wellbeing centres would be replaced by 10 new purpose-built homes and wellbeing centres, to be run by the private company.

Place Court will be replaced by a new purpose-built residential home and wellbeing centre on the site of the former Chalkstone Middle School in Millfields Way, Haverhill.

Construction of the new home is set to begin in June 2013, with the new home opening in June 2014, and Place Court closing in July 2014.

Answer could be machines

Sir, To help solve the parking problems in Haverhill High Street, which has been going on for a number of years now, I would suggest that perhaps the answer is pay and display at a rate of £4.10 for each hour between the hours of 8am and 6pm. Ticket machines could be installed in the High Street.

This would, hopefully, encourage more people to use the other car parks which are at an extremely lower rate. A number of the car parks are approximately 50 yards from the High Street as I have previously checked the pacings of such.

The borough council already has a car park attendant who checks for tickets and parking outside of bays, which would also deter people parking on the pavement in the Haverhill High Street, of which as we all know there are many who abuse certain privileges.

Checking the High Street would only mean a very slight detour of his route. This would also help free up police time, which would mean they could concentrate their activities and resources elsewhere.

Harsh as it may appear, this problem has gone on long enough now, and if people want to pay for front row seats, so to speak, who are we to deprive them of that privilege, but at a price and people park in the designated bays only.

There is also perhaps the attractions that shops and businesses in the town might wish to consider giving a refund or part of such to customers on production of their High Street pay and display ticket receipt once the customer has spent over a certain amount in their shop – a similar scheme to that which the now gone Co-Op/ Leos store offered. With this in mind I have asked both the borough council and Suffolk County Council to investigate the Pay and Display parking aspect for Haverhill High Street.

Gordon Cox
Borough Councillor

Response is unbelievable

Sir, I read the letter from the town clerk complaining about your report on the 'clampdown' in the town centre with utter disbelief.

Firstly he implies that the only reason there are any traffic restrictions in our High Street is due to Suffolk County Council.

Is he really saying that the godly scions in Ipswich handed down a decree that Haverhill must have a restricted High Street, and that the local council were 'merely obeying orders'?

More importantly he once again trots out the farcical 'If the High Street was closed it would be buzzing with activity, you only have to look at Saturdays'.

Does this individual live on planet Earth? Does he realise that we have a 'market' in the High Street on Saturdays. Does he also realise that most people still work, and that is still mostly Monday to Friday so guess what? They come out Tranquil setting: Broadgate House in Steeple Bumpstead is described as 'a charming property'.

Family home of author put on the market

THE family home of Winnie the Pooh's author is up for sale for about £1,275,000.

The house in Steeple Bumpstead was inhabited by AA Milne and his parents while he was studying at Cambridge University's Trinity College in the early 20th century.

Grade II Listed Broadgate House boasts about two acres of grounds and dates from the 1500s but was remodelled and extended in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Schuyler Pratt of Jackson-Stops and Staff, joint agents for selling the property, said: "Broadgate House is the epitome of a fine village house being within walking distance of the village and its facilities but lying somewhat set back from the street, and enjoying such wonderful spacious and private grounds.

"The literary associations may be of interest to some but with or without such provenance Broadgate House stands alone as a charming property."

For more information, contact Carter Jonas and Jackson-Stops and Staff, the joint agents, on (01638) 662231 or (01245) 467468.

Saturday.

Is it a requirement for a post in the town council that you inhabit some sort of parallel universe where everyone is independently wealthy, with no restrictions on their time or mobility and whose decisions when and where to shop are based on lack of traffic?

I would despair but frankly the insanity that abound in all aspects of public life today makes this a very small blip.

Dennis Richards
Moneypiece Close
Haverhill

Amazement at use of parking

Sir, I have made a point of studying who uses both Queen Street and the High Street on Saturdays and am amazed at the number of physically disabled people happily moving on crutches, in wheelchairs or mobility scooters along those streets.

I am also amazed at how many members of the general public use our totally blocked off High Street on a Saturday.

How come then that these people cannot do the same on the other days? How come they can get up and down Queen Street without parking using their blue badge but not the High Street when the parking available to people is the same distance from those streets?

I have spoken to many, many people over the years and the vast majority of them agree that closing the High Street between 10am and 4pm would be a huge benefit – especially on school holidays.

Some people have admitted to me that they just don't like it closed as it is a helpful shortcut for them and others have said they can't be bothered to park and pay a few pence, they would rather park as close to the shops they want as possible.

To those people I say well, at least you are being honest – but I do not agree keeping that street open for those reasons is acceptable.

How come that very busy town and city centres all over our country are properly closed off during the day without discriminating or badly affecting anybody, yet for some reason if we wish to do that here in our town it does?

It seems to me also that all of a sudden huge flocks of blue badge holders, who have not returned again by the way, suddenly needed to come to our town to shop? Isn't life strange.

Special thanks for the support

Sir, We would like to say a huge thank you to those who supported our charity cheese, wine and quiz night at Tesco on October 25. You raised an impressive £404.72 which, in the current economic climate, is an excellent achievement. A very special thank you goes to Claire Bowden, community champion at Tesco, who organised and ran the show – a huge success all round.

Choral show to focus on wartime

HEROISM and the horrors of war will be the inspiration for a choral performance on Remembrance Sunday.

Field of Poppies will feature the singers of Haverhill Choral Society in the Lakeside Pavilion at Sturmer Hall on Sunday, November 11.

Adding to their performance of well-known music and songs will be contributions by actors from Outspoken Theatre.

The concert begins at 6pm and tickets for front stalls cost £15 adults, £10 senior citizens and £7.50 for 12 and under. Rear stalls cost £12 adults, £10 senior citizens and £6 for under 12s. To buy tickets call (01440) 705368, email info@sturmerhall.com or log on to www.sturmerhall.com

Digger damaged

OFFENDERS have damaged a digger in Haverhill.

Extensive damage was inflicted on the vehicle's mirrors, windows and bodywork between 4pm on Monday, October 22 and 10am the next day, according to Suffolk Police. The machine was on land near the town's Haycocks Road.

Call the police on 101 with the crime reference HH/12/2288 if you can help.

Soul at pavilion

STACEY Kent and Her Musicians will perform at a Haverhill venue.

The soul singer will take to the stage at Sturmer Hall's Lakeside Pavilion on Saturday at 8pm.

Tickets cost £22.50/£27.50 or £46 for seats which include a two-course jazz supper.

Pamper session puts sisters in the spotlight

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO inspirational sisters have been pampered by a Haverhill company after reading their story in the Weekly News.

Letecia Martin, 13, and her sister Kezia, 7, both have hearing problems but the pair refuse to let this stop them enjoying their childhood, and along with mum Abby and dad John, they have embarked on fundraising initiatives for the National Deaf Children Society raising hundreds of pounds.

On Sunday, Haverhill company Funky Diva Makeovers gave the Red Lodge family some "precious time" to spend together as they had their hair and make-up professionally done for a family portrait.

Debbie Lee, owner of Haverhill's D'n'A Hair Studio, and Helen Whitcombe, of One Wish Photography, invited the Martin family to the shoot after reading their story in the Weekly News.

Kezia is severely to profoundly deaf in both ears while her big sister Letecia is profoundly deaf in her right ear.

Mum Abby said: "We couldn't believe that somebody wanted to do something so lovely for us. It was very precious for us to be able to spend time together as a family and I just watched my girls come alive at the shoot.

"The ladies were just wonderful and made us feel so special."

Abby explained it was quite a shock to the family when they discovered Letecia was deaf in one ear at about the age of 4.

She said: "We just didn't know how to cope. The National Deaf Children Society has been a tremendous support to us and the girls have done so well because of the support and we've had from them. That's why we decided to start fundraising to give back."

Debbie added: "They were lovely people and they enjoyed being pampered. Abby and the girls had a complete makeover including professional make-up by Michala Kenward and hair styling by Aimee Lee and myself. They thoroughly deserved the treat and we hope they had fun."

Murder trial jury sent out

JURORS in the trial of a homeless drifter accused of the murders of a vicar and a retired teacher have been sent out to start their deliberations.

Stephen Farrow, 48, admits the manslaughter of the Rev John Suddards but denies murdering the clergyman between February 12 and 15 this year on the grounds of diminished responsibility.

His also denies the murder of Betty Yates between January 1 and 5 this year.

Both victims were found stabbed in their homes.

Farrow, of no fixed address, admits the separate charge of burgling Vine Cottage in Thornbury, South Gloucestershire, between December 21 last year and January 3 this year.

The three charges span a period of eight weeks, from December 21 to February 15, with "distinct" links between them, the jury were told.

Mr Suddards, a former rector of Great Yeldham, was found with stab wounds to the neck and chest.

The body of widower Mrs Yates, who lived at her home, Riverscroft, on the banks of the River Severn, was discovered on January 4, having been killed two days earlier.

She was found lying in her hallway with her head resting on a cushion. She had been stabbed four times in the head and neck, the court heard.

Leon's birthday boost

HAVERHILL'S Leon Bailey admits his chance to share a court with US Open and Olympic champion Andy Murray at the ATP World Tour Finals cannot come quickly enough.

After winning a nationwide competition from 2,500 children across the country, the 14-year-old will be one of 30 Barclays Ball Kids at the O2 Arena in London from November 5 to 12.

Bailey spent his half-term at The Hampshire Racquets & Health Club being put through his paces ready for the week in the spotlight in the capital.

And while the Castle Manor Academy pupil is expecting a tough week's work at the O2, Bailey can't wait to get acquainted with Murray and the rest of the world's top players.

"The training was pretty tiring," said Bailey, who made the Ball Kids National trials but missed out on the final cut in both of the last two years.

"You are constantly on the move but it's worth it in the end so that we can get it perfectly right when the tournament actually starts.

"I'm so excited about the week, it's also my birthday during the week and I'm turning 15 so that makes it a double celebration.

All set: Leon Bailey.

CP

"Apparently last year Andy Murray brought a cake for one of the ball boys whose birthday it was so if that happens it would be pretty cool.

"I am really looking forward to just getting out there, our training has been going very well and we all now have to do."

More than 20,000 spectators a day will see Bailey in action.

Be ready for flooding risk

HAVERHILL residents are being urged to be aware of the risks of flooding and prepare to take action as part of a county-wide campaign supported by the area's MP.

Town councillors have been asked to spread the word to local groups and residents to raise public awareness of flood risks in the area, after statistics revealed that one in six properties in Suffolk is at risk.

The wettest April to June on record, and further wet weather in July, September and October, has left river levels full, the ground saturated and ground waters in some areas exceptionally high.

This week, resilience workshops have taken place in the county as part of a four-week campaign to encourage preparation in case flooding were to hit.

The national campaign by the Environment Agency has also been praised by MP for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock.

Interactive online games and animations have been put up on the organisation's website to help people prepare their homes to reduce the damage of flooding.

Mr Hancock said: "With winter well and truly on the way, it is important that everyone, including children, understands how to minimise the risks posed by flooding.

"The Environment Agency is

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

doing important work through its 'flood-aware' month, encouraging people to prepare for the unexpected and I encourage everyone to take a look at the website."

Emma James, environmental strategy officer at Suffolk County Council, said this is a national campaign by the Environment Agency that is concentrating primarily on areas previously hit by flooding.

She said: "The campaign hopes to educate the public on how to find out if homes or businesses are in a flood risk area, how to minimise potential damage to properties and what the Environment Agency is doing to reduce the threat of inland and coastal flooding."

Tony Harris, an Environment Agency flood forecasting team leader, added: "While it is important to prepare your property, it is also important to look after yourself, your relatives and your pets if there is a flood.

"The digital information is a great way to reach people who may not know how to keep themselves or their property as well prepared for a flood as possible."

Warm Home scheme can help those on low incomes

Q I've recently lost my job and am struggling to pay the bills. I live with my elderly mother so don't want to cut back on heating because it could be bad for her health. Is there any help?

There are lots of things you can do to cut your heating bill including checking you are getting all of the help you and your mother are entitled to.

Under the Warm Home Discount scheme, energy suppliers offer extra help for people on low incomes. If you are eligible you could get a

The Haverhill branch of Suffolk West Citizens Advice Bureau looks at the problem of mounting energy bills and how to keep the prices down £130 rebate on your electricity bill for winter 2012/13. Plus pensioners can get a Winter Fuel Payment of £100-£300. And if your mother gets pension credit or other eligible benefits you could get a £25 payment if the temperature where you live drops to an average of 0°C or lower for seven days.

You might be able to get a better deal with a new supplier, particularly if you have never switched before – saving you as much as £200 or more by shopping around, visit an accredited switching website to compare prices.

Insulating the loft and cavity walls of your home is a great way to save money on your heating bills. You could save up to £160 per year if you do both. Most major energy suppliers are also offering this free or at a reduced price.

There are also lots of small things you can do for free or at low cost around the home to save money on your energy bills. You can find out more by calling the Energy Saving Trust on 0300 123 1234 or fill out an online home energy check <http://hec.est.org.uk/>

Find out more about getting extra help on your energy bills from your local Citizens Advice Bureau.

Top tips to cut your energy bills

THOUSANDS of people are paying over the odds for their energy bills.

But according to Suffolk West CAB and the Energy Saving Trust, by shopping around and getting switched on to energy saving ways you could cut your bill by up to £750 a year – enough for a week's holiday for two to Morocco or family break to the Lake District this half-term.

CAB is helping people prepare for winter by lowering their energy bills. Leaving people with extra cash to spend on daily essentials and a few treats too!

Top energy saving tips

1. You could save up to £200 by switching supplier, and maybe even more if you have never switched before. That's nearly three weeks of food shopping.
2. You might be able to save up to £100 if you pay your bill by Direct Debit – giving you enough money to buy two tickets to a football match or a theatre show.
3. Washing clothes at 30 degrees, your dishes in a bowl and line drying your clothes on sunny days will save up to £63 a year on energy bills – the price of filling up a family car with petrol.
4. Turning down the thermostat in your home could save you up to £60 – the cost of a 12lb Christmas turkey.

5. Taking a minute off each shower saves up to £21 a year in gas bills – the equivalent of a trip to the cinema for two.

6. Energy saving light bulbs use 80 per cent less electricity than traditional light bulbs. By replacing all traditional light bulbs with energy-saving alternatives you could save around £55 a year from your energy bills – enough for a carvery meal for a family of five.

7. Turning appliances off at the wall and not leaving them on standby can save between £50 and £86 a year – the price of a return train ticket to Paris.

8. Only filling the kettle up with as much water as you need could save up to £7 in energy bills a year – sufficient savings to buy a new book.

9. Turning off your lights when you don't need them could save up to £8 a year and give you enough money for a zumba class.

10. Save up to £160 per year by insulating the loft and cavity walls of your home – and you could splash out on weekend for two to York. Find out more about getting extra help on your energy bills from your local Citizens Advice Bureau.

Chip shop knife man walks free

A MAN who brandished a knife at a town centre fish and chip shop and assaulted three people has been spared a prison sentence.

Andrew Dunn, 30, claimed to have been carrying the weapon for self protection after receiving death threats, Ipswich Crown Court was told.

Dunn, of Stanton Place, Haverhill, pleaded guilty to affray, possession of a knife in a public place and possession of cannabis.

Prosecuting on Monday, Richard Potts said on the evening of April 20 Dunn, who had been drinking, had been out in Haverhill town centre with his girlfriend and ended up at Benny's Fish and Chip Shop in the High Street.

Someone shouted a comment about the youthful appearance of Dunn's girlfriend to which he reacted angrily, said Mr Potts.

Dunn later told police he had been called a "paedophile".

Outside the fish and chip shop Dunn deliberately barged into a customer, punched another man in the face and became involved in a struggle with a third man who tried to restrain him and who suffered a puncture wound to his arm.

Brandishing a serrated knife with a six-inch blade, Dunn had turned to the group of customers and passers-by who had gathered and said: "I'll stab you", Mr Potts told the court.

When interviewed, Dunn admitted having carried the knife. He said: "I've had a lot of threats. I've always got something with me to protect myself."

He kept the knife up the sleeve of his jacket, secured in place with a piece of elastic, he said.

In mitigation, Jahad Mustafa said threats to Dunn's life appeared real at the time but the situation had now been resolved.

Mr Mustafa added: "Mr Dunn felt a keen sense of humiliation at having been mocked in a very derogatory way in front of his partner."

Judge Peter Fenn said Dunn had overreacted and added: "Knife crime is undoubtedly very serious and should be treated as such by the courts."

He was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment suspended for two years, placed under Probation Service supervision for the same period and ordered to complete 200 hours' unpaid community work.

Footbridge to be replaced

A FOOTBRIDGE is being replaced to improve conditions for walkers and cyclists.

Cambridgeshire County Council said the existing bridge in Horseshoe Lane, Weston Colville, was substandard, and plans to be on site for a week from Monday.

The £20,000 project will also improve the flow of water under the bridge to reduce the risk of flooding.

People will still be able to cross the stream using a ford alongside the bridge which will be drained to allow them safe access.

Burglary bid at garage

WOULD-be burglars tried to break in to a garage in Haverhill.

The incident took place at a garage block in Cambridge Way between 10.30pm last Thursday and 6.40am the following morning. Anyone with information should call Sgt Sarah Bartley on 101.

Donor saved my life – now I'm going for gold

Golden smile: now Liam Barnett is targeting further success. Picture: Richard Patterson 867380

A year after receiving a new liver, swimming ace Liam Barnett won four gold medals at the British Transplant Games. Next year, he'll represent his country at the World Games in South Africa. And he owes it all to someone he never even met. Interview by EMMA HIGGINBOTHAM.

THIS summer, exactly a year after the liver transplant that saved his life, Liam Barnett decided to write to his donor's family. It was, he says, one of the hardest things he's ever done.

"The only thing I know about the donor is that it was a male in his 40s," says Liam. "It took me ages to write the letter: how do you express your gratitude, in a nutshell, for someone's decision to gift you with life?"

"I didn't want to be melodramatic about it, but if I hadn't had a transplant I would have died. So I wanted to explain what I'm trying to get out of life, for me and for their loved one."

"They didn't reply, but I didn't expect them to. I just hope it helped them, really."

If the donor's family knew what Liam has just achieved, there's no doubt they'd be incredibly proud: in August, he entered four swimming races in the British Transplant Games – and won four golds. "That felt pretty good," says Liam. "And now they want me to represent Great Britain at the World Transplant Games in South Africa next year, which is a dream of mine – I'm passionate about swimming."

Growing up in Hemel Hempstead, Liam, who's 25, would swim whenever he could. He even represented the county, excelling at freestyle and butterfly. But at the age of 13, he began to have mysterious abdominal pains which stopped him getting into the pool.

Tests revealed that Liam had a rare liver disease called primary sclerosing cholangitis: his immune system was attacking his liver, causing it to scar. But Liam took it all in his stride: "For a few years it was quite simple," he says. "All I had to do was take medicine. I was back to normal and didn't have the pains any more."

At 18, Liam went to Bristol University where he thrived, even captaining the university swimming team. But gradually, as his liver became more scarred, he began to have problems. The abdominal pains reappeared, and he was plagued with colds and food poisoning. "My nickname, which I had on the back of my shirt, was 'Sicknote,'" he grins.

A change of medication helped and, after graduating, Liam moved to Cambridge to work at engineering consultants Mott MacDonald, and joined the City of Cambridge Swimming Club. All was going well until one night in March 2011, when he decided to compete for his old club in Hemel Hempstead.

"I didn't do particularly well that evening. I got a lot of cramp in my legs. Then the next morning I woke up with the worst pain I've ever had in my life."

"You know how you scrape out the insides of a pumpkin with a spoon? It felt like that: it felt like someone was pulping me from the inside out. I couldn't get out of bed, so I had to call my dad on my mobile to get him to come to my room."

Liam was rushed to hospital in the grips of a ferocious fever: "I was a bit delirious, but I just remember thinking 'oh, this isn't good.'"

It transpired he had spontaneous bacterial peritonitis – a very nasty infection: "My liver was starting to fail, and it was leaking fluid into my abdominal cavity," he explains.

"They said that 50 per cent of people who've had it die within two years, and I just thought 'oh well, I'll be one of the other 50 per cent then.'"

But Liam's optimism couldn't hide the fact that he needed a liver transplant – and soon. "Doctors had always said I'd need a transplant at some point, but I thought it was way off, maybe when I was in my 40s. But now they said I should start taking it a bit more seriously."

Within a week of leaving hospital, Liam was back at work. All seemed fine until a month later, when another attack of peritonitis put him in Addenbrooke's for a week. Again he recovered quickly. "But then after about three weeks, I felt really lousy.

"I lay in bed all weekend, and went to the doctor on Monday morning. She said 'how long have you been jaundiced, then?' And I was like 'what?' I was quite shocked. She said 'go and look in my mirror', and I was all yellow, like a Simpson."

The jaundice was yet another sign that Liam's liver was failing: "It was quite haunting, actually, to see that even the whites of my eyes were yellow. She said 'we need to call Addenbrooke's right away.'"

Liam spent the next month in hospital, knowing he needed a transplant urgently. "It's a strange feeling. I found myself just wishing to get it done with, but then I realised I was essentially wishing for an accident to happen to someone – and felt sick at myself for thinking such a thing. It was a bit of a head spin."

He eventually went home, but a third bout of peritonitis saw him back in Addenbrooke's yet again: "and they found that I was starting to become tolerant to the antibiotics, so it was starting to get quite dangerous."

But, he says, he never considered that he might die. "Not at all. I thought everything would work out."

Liam went to his parents' house to recuperate, then one night in the summer of 2011, the fateful phone call came: a donor organ had been found.

Feeling "a mixture of excitement and fear", Liam was driven to Addenbrooke's by his mum: "then eventually my dad and my brothers, Josh and Curtis, came up, so I had all my family around my bed."

"I remember joking around with the surgeon, saying can you give me a nice six-pack scar instead of an L?" But the mood changed when they came to take him away.

"That was quite hard: my brothers and my dad started crying, and it was quite difficult to see them all upset."

"My parents came down to theatre with me, and I said I didn't want them to be there when I got put out: I wanted them to see me going into the room awake. I had to forcefully hold back the tears, because I wanted to seem strong."

The six-hour transplant operation was deemed a success, but the following day Liam took a turn for the worse: during the surgery, a main vein had been severed: "and my liver was sitting in about a litre of blood."

"It was pretty daunting because my family had gone home, then suddenly all these doctors came in and said 'we're going to have to take you back into surgery.' I said to the surgeon 'it will be all right, won't it? And he said 'well, we'll see'."

"That was a bit frightening. Obviously my parents weren't going to be back in time, so I said to the nurse who was looking after me: 'Can I have a hug?' I thought it might have been the last time I hugged anybody."

Surgeons repaired the damage, but unfortunately Liam had yet another internal bleed 10 days later – on his 24th birthday. "It was the third time I'd been opened in a few days. I said 'you might as well put a zip on this thing'."

Ever the optimist, Liam put all his efforts into his recovery. "I'd make little goals: to begin with it was just washing myself, then I'd try to go for little walks, but just going downstairs to the foyer was a major challenge."

Even sitting was difficult: he'd dropped from around 12st 9lbs to just over 9st: "and I had such a bony bum that I had to carry a pillow around to sit down!"

When Liam was finally discharged, he spent six months recuperating at his parents' home: "and I haven't looked back since. The recovery went really well, and I'm so grateful to my parents and my brothers. I don't think I'd have been able to get through it so well without them."

By January this year Liam was back at work – and back in the pool: he started training properly in May, and by August felt well enough to enter the British Transplant Games in Kent.

To say he excelled is putting it mildly: "I entered four events, the 50m freestyle, 50m backstroke, 50m butterfly and 100m freestyle – and I won them all," he smiles.

"They have transplant world records and, although my times don't count officially, as it wasn't a World Games, I beat three of them, and I was very close on the fourth. I'm a bit gutted I didn't get them all, to be honest!"

But it wasn't just beating the times or winning the 'Best New Adult Transplant' trophy that buoyed Liam: it was meeting others who'd been through something similar. "It was so good to talk about it," he says. "The Games are a real celebration of life: everyone's so upbeat, and there for one another."

Next summer, Liam will represent Great Britain in the World Transplant Games in South Africa, this time entering seven events: "So my aim is to get seven golds! It's a real focus for me, and I think about it every day."

"With transplants, there is every chance that organs can fail at any point, as the body is naturally trying to reject the organ. So all I can do is live as well as I can."

"I've always been quite a chilled out person, and don't feel sorry for myself, but I have thought 'wow, I nearly died last year: I better start doing all the things I want to do.' And what I want to do is the World Transplant Games."

Not surprisingly, then, Liam is in the pool as often as he can be, with his scar on full view – and he doesn't feel in the least self-conscious: "People do stare, but I'm proud of it," he says.

"It represents not only what my family and I have been through, but all the hard work of everyone who was involved in my transplant."

"For me, it's a symbol of all the people who gave me the gift of life."

Christopher Biggins, there are some amazing prizes to be had by four lucky winners and their classes!

The first prize winner will receive a set of six Myro audio story books and CDs, and a Myro activity pack. They will also win a Myro picture story book for every child in their class (maximum 35 books) and a Myro story sack for their teacher, a total prize worth up to £325!

Three runners up will each receive a Myro audio story book and CD, and a Myro activity pack. They will also win a Myro story sack for their teacher, each total prize worth £33.

This new series of Myro iPad story apps and audio story books and CDs is based on the original Myro picture storybooks, and follows the adventures of a little British Microlight called Myro - mischievous, curious and prone to disaster - as he settles into his new home in Australia.

The iPad story apps are fully interactive with animations, music, sound effects, actors and songs, and are also narrated by the wonderful Christopher Biggins. With its gripping stories, beautiful images and irresistible characters, Myro, the Smallest Plane in the World is sure to find a place in everyone's heart.

The iPad story apps can be downloaded from the App Store and the audio story books and CDs are available from Waterstones, Amazon.com and independent book-sellers.

To win one of these fantastic prizes, all your child has to do is draw a picture of Myro or one of his friends and send it to Myro Competition, Haverhill Weekly News, 4 Queen Street, Haverhill, Suffolk, CB9 9EF, by November 12.

Your child must be aged between four and seven and attending a reception, year 1 or year 2 class in a UK primary school. All prizes will be sent directly to your child's school, to be presented to them and their class by their head teacher.

To find pictures of Myro and his friends to draw for the competition, visit www.myro.com or visit Facebook or Twitter @MyroAdventures.

Jo's show sets centre record

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A COMEDIAN'S show sold out in 24 hours – being branded the fastest selling event Haverhill Arts Centre has ever hosted.

Tickets for Jo Brand's performance went on sale on October 25 at 2.30pm and by 2.30pm the following day, all 210 tickets had been sold.

Nick Keeble, arts and leisure manager at the centre, said: "Jo Brand is the fastest selling show we've ever had at the arts centre. As it was a last-minute booking we let people know by email and almost all of the bookings came through our new website, which allows customers to select their own seats."

"It was sold out in less than 24 hours from when we put it on general sale and we have a waiting list too. Sorry to anyone who missed out on seeing Jo. Please get in touch with the box office if you have not already given us your email address so we can let you know of the latest shows we have coming up."

Brand will be returning to the arts centre on Friday, December 14, at 8pm as a "winter warmer" for her forthcoming UK tour.

The well-known comedian is the star and writer of BBC award-winning series Getting On and has also featured in Jo Brand's Hot Potatoes and Through the Cake-hole.

At her performance in Haverhill, she will be supported by Andy Robinson.

Man accused of digger theft

A 37-YEAR-OLD man has been charged with stealing a digger from a compound in Camps Road, Haverhill. Shaun Richards, of Aveley, South Ockendon, Essex, was arrested in the town shortly after 8pm on October 23.

He was interviewed by Bury St Edmunds Police and later charged with theft.

Richards was released on bail to appear at West Suffolk Magistrates Court on Friday, November 9.

Tools stolen from van

THIEVES have broken into two vans in one road in Haverhill during the same night.

Offenders rolled a silver Fiat van forward to get at its rear doors before making off with change and tools contained in three DeWalt tool bags.

The vehicle parked in a driveway in Beaumont Court was targeted between 9.30pm on October 25 and 6.50am the next day.

A white Citroen Berlingo van was also broken into overnight between 10pm and 8am from which thieves stole keys to outbuildings.

Call Suffolk Police on 101 with the reference HH/12/2291 if you saw anything suspicious.

Life's still good

IT'S not the most obvious subject matter for a comedy, but Penelope Keith's latest play is all about grief.

She plays June Pepper, the wife of a tabloid newspaper editor who has just died. Adapted from the best-selling novel of the same name, Good Grief charts her journey through the stages of the grieving process, as she learns there is far more to life than death.

"Bereavement is one of the last subjects that we can't seem to discuss," says Keith, with her trademark frankness. "People just don't talk about it until it happens to them."

"The piece is written by Keith Waterhouse and he is the sort of person who says what other people just think. I think the person who is most like him today is Rod Liddle who writes in The Times."

Despite its heavy subject matter, Keith believes that people will come away from the play with both a smile on their faces and with something to think about. "There are some great lines and it is a joy to work with," she explains, "but there is also plenty of substance, plenty of wry humour and many poignant moments."

"It looks at marriage, widowhood and bereavement. My character is asked to keep a journal of her grief by her husband before he dies and it is not an easy task."

As usual, Keith has undertaken plenty of research for her role, explaining: "We've had a talk from a former newspaper editor who worked in Fleet Street as it was and also visited St Bride's Church in London. And before we actually started to rehearse, we talked about the play and what it meant to us."

Despite being on stage for almost the entire show, Keith hasn't found it hard to learn all her lines. "You have to be persistent," she says. "You have to put the work in but I firmly believe that you have a learning muscle that, if you use, keeps working well."

Much-loved British actress Penelope Keith tells The Guide why she is finding much to both celebrate and contemplate in her latest play, the bittersweet comedy Good Grief.

The actress is also helped by having played the role once before, a decade ago, when Waterhouse was still alive. This return to her old role is a change from her previous two plays, both Restoration dramas (including The Rivals, together with former co-star Peter Bowles). Before that, she was at the Arts Theatre, also as a widow, in Entertaining Angels.

If she sounds busy, it's because she is. Still the actress declares she loves life on the road, and certainly makes the most of getting out and about.

"It's wonderful to see new places, especially places that you might not normally see. This tour is just the right length, we finish on November 17, so then I can get all ready for Christmas."

Away from work, you'll most likely find Keith in her garden. Based in Surrey with her husband Rodney, she has been a passionate gardener for years. She has even presented a gardening programme for television, such is her knowledge and enthusiasm.

Post-Christmas, however, the actress isn't sure what the future holds work-wise. But that's fine by her. "That is the joy of it," she says. "You are never too sure. Musicians are booked out for months ahead but actors don't really know. You just hope that something interesting will turn up."

Saying that while she isn't gunning for anything in particular, it's likely to be another play: "There isn't a lot of television work for us women who have been around for a long time. I know you hear that a lot, but most of my generation were trained for the stage so that is where we tend to work."

Unlike many of her peers who tire of talking about their past glories, Keith, now 72, is happy to reminisce about her starring television roles like the hugely popular The Good Life and To The Manor Born. Both saw Keith play strong (and terribly well-spoken, of course) women, including Margot in The Good Life with Felicity Kendal, Richard Briers and Paul Eddington, and Audrey forbes-Hamilton in To The Manor Born, which teamed her with the suave Peter Bowles.

Both shows have stood the test of time, being shown around the world and still loved by millions of viewers.

"They were wonderful parts and I look back with great affection," says Keith, adding that she still sees many of the 'old gang'.

"I speak to them on the phone and we meet up, and yes, they are still working which is great."

As well being the obvious choice to host the recent restoration series To The Manor Reborn, Keith also reprised her role as forbes-Hamilton for a special anniversary edition in 2007 which saw Richard and Audrey celebrating their silver wedding anniversary. Proof, perhaps, that the things we love really do live on.

■ Good Grief, Cambridge Arts Theatre, November 5-10, 7.45pm. Tickets start from £15. Contact (01223) 503333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com.

Czech out the classics

CAMBRIDGE Corn Exchange plays host to the Prague Symphony Orchestra on November 13, a leading ensemble that has been enriching the concert life of the Czech capital since 1934.

The orchestra is conducted by Heiko Mathias Förster – one of the most compelling conductors of his generation – and the concert opens with the Overture to Smetana's The Bartered Bride. Smetana holds a very special place in the heart of the Czech people.

The evening also features a consummate performance of Janacek's lyrical

Adagio, and ends with Dvorak's joyous and tender Symphony No. 8, which draws on the Bohemian folk music so beloved by the composer.

Jubilee CD is released

A BRASS band has recorded musical memories of the year in celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee and the London 2012 Olympics.

Haverhill Silver Band recorded a variety of tracks including Jubilee Overture and Olympic Fanfare to create their CD, A Year to Remember. Some of the numbers can be heard at the band's first concert in its new series at Haverhill Arts Centre on Sunday, November 11 at 7.30pm.

Big band style music will also be played and local singer Steve Rinaldi will perform a number of classics.

A Year to Remember will be available at the band's Christmas concerts. Tickets for the concert are available from the box office on (01440) 714140 and cost £6.50/£5.

Half-term highlights

LISTEN TO A STORY Cambridge charity Blue Smiles is holding a sponsored read today and tomorrow in the children's department of Waterstone's. Readers will include well-known faces such as actor Richard Heffer and the Mayor of Cambridge, as well as local authors Nicola Killen and Kathy Henderson. Taking place across three age ranges (3-5, 6-9, 10-13) you can book a slot online at www.bluesmileproject.org, where donations for the charity, which helps disadvantaged children with mental health problems, are welcome. For more information, email info@bluesmileproject.org.

CELEBRATE THE CLASSICS Bookworms might also enjoy the various children's events planned as part of the Heffers Classics Festival on Saturday. Caroline Lawrence – author of the Roman Mysteries series – will be signing books from 11am, then you can pop along to the Fitzwilliam Museum for a mosaic making workshop (ages 5+) and a historical fiction workshop with Adèle Geras, who has written more than 70 books for children, teens and young adults. Places for the workshop are limited, to reserve a place call (01223) 463224 or email childrens@heffers.co.uk.

BANG THE DRUM Musical youngsters will love letting off steam at the Drum It Up workshop today. Organised by education music charity Squeaky Gate, the half-day workshops are aimed at young people aged 12-16, and run from 10am-2pm at the charity's studios on Norfolk Street, Cambridge. There's no experience necessary, but booking early is advised. Call Joe on (01223) 361164 or email joe@squeakygate.org.uk.

WARTIME TALES Discover more about the dangerous and thrilling missions of RAF Bomber Command during the Second World War. Every day, until Sunday, hear amazing true tales of aerial warfare told by IWM Duxford's own storyteller. From 11am to 3pm, there will be a range of character-based stories, showing the Lancaster bomber from the perspective of people who all had very different experiences of this legendary aircraft. Half-term activities are included in standard admission to the museum and visitors aged 15 or under enjoy free admission. For further information visit www.iwm.org.uk or call (01223) 835000.

MEET THE ANCESTORS Horrible historians will love the latest family show at the Cambridge Arts Theatre. Kids and adults alike will love the Terrible Tudors and Vile Victorians, who are set to come to life until Saturday. Adapted from Terry Deary's best-selling Horrible History books, this show encompasses comedy and 3D special effects, which make learning a pleasure. For more information or to book tickets, visit www.cambridgeartstheatre.co.uk or call (01223) 503333.

HAVE A BRIGHT IDEA Finally, don't forget there's plenty going on for kids of all ages at Cambridge's annual Festival of Ideas. Events include Of Slime and Monsters: Meet the Beasts (today, 11am-noon, 2-3pm, Museum of Zoology) and A Trail of Polar Dreams and Nightmares (Saturday, 10am-4pm, The Polar Museum, Lensfield Road). The big film

Silent Hill: Revelation 3D certificate 15 1h34m

MICHAEL J Bassett directs this sequel to the 2006 horror film Silent Hill, based on the popular video game series. Heather Mason (Adelaide Clemens) and her father Harry (Sean Bean) have been on the run from dark forces for most of their lives. The young woman doesn't fully understand the chilling truth behind her fate until, on the eve of her 18th birthday, she endures terrifying nightmares and her father disappears without trace. Soon after she discovers she isn't who she thinks she is and reluctantly ventures into an alternate dimension and the spooky town of Silent Hill, where she encounters Leonard (Malcolm McDowell) and Claudia Wolf (Carrie-Anne Moss). There she learns that her father is actually Christopher Da Silva, whose wife Rosa (Radha Mitchell) ventured into this hellish realm to cure her daughter's nightmares.

Giving the birds a boost of berries

GARDENERS should be continuing to refill their bird-feeders and baths during the cooler months, when the birds really need them, but it's worth looking at some berried treasures to plant in borders as well.

Indeed, with some plants, such as pernettya and snowberry, the berries are the main attraction as their flowers are small and insignificant.

Don't just think of red when you consider adding a shrub with berries to your garden. Their colours range from white to black and most colours in between. As they contain the reproductive part of the plant, berries are perfect for increasing your stock of plants.

The birds have a habit of helping with propagation, by spreading seeds all over the garden. And there are quite a few trees which will provide them with food throughout the autumn and winter months.

by Hannah Stephenson

The rowan tree, mountain ash and whitebeam, which all belong to the genus Sorbus, carry abundant crops of berries from autumn onwards and provide some fantastic autumn leaf colour as well.

The golden-berried rowan, Sorbus 'Joseph Rock', provides both colour for gardeners and food for blackbirds with its abundant berry crop.

For the best of both worlds, plant a Sorbus sargentiana, which has pinnate leaves which turn brilliant red in autumn, large sticky red buds in winter and huge clusters of white flowers, followed by bright red berries for the birds.

Another good garden stalwart that provides masses of fruit is the herringbone cotoneaster, with its dense tapestry of branches and small, glossy leaves also providing good nesting sites for small birds and homes to many of the insects on which they feed.

It's a compact, deciduous species bearing pinkish white flowers followed by bright red berries and reaches a maximum height of around 1.5m (5ft) and is particularly suitable for training against a sunny wall.

If you prefer orange berries, go for the semi-evergreen C. simonsii, which grows a little taller and produces a new set of leaves in mid-autumn which may last until spring.

Of course, no berry-rich garden should be without at least two varieties of holly, as they need a male and a female to pollinate. An abundant crop of scarlet or yellow autumn berries should appear as long as a male form of holly is planted near to every three to five female plants.

Often persisting through most of the winter, the fruits provide vital cold-weather food for many types of songbird, while deciduous forms with persistent bright red fruits include 'Sparkleberry' and Ilex verticillata 'Winter Red', with its dark green, toothed foliage.

Birds aren't interested in all berries, which is just as well, because if you only plant their favourites, you may have little colour left by Christmas.

So plant some specimens which the birds will leave alone, such as Skimmia, Aucuba and the guelder rose (Viburnum opulus), which tend to be their least favourites. Ivy berries are extremely valuable to birds, while crab apples are also appreciated.

When considering your food supply for the birds, remember that fruiting wall shrubs including pyracantha and flowering quince will need to be pruned after flowering each year to keep them close to the wall.

You may lose a few young berries, but the rest will ripen better and the shrub will look neater if it doesn't outgrow its space.

GARDEN VISITOR: a rich variety of berries will turn your outdoors into a haven for birds.

WITH Skyfall, the newest Bond film, set to open in UK cinemas on Friday, Hagerty created Bond Cars on a Budget, a list of the coolest attainable vehicles from the James Bond franchise.

So if an Aston Martin DB5 doesn't exactly meet with your bank manager's approval, you'll need to go with Plan B, and Hagerty International is ready to help. The UK's classic car insurance specialist has compiled a list of alternative Bond cars without the hefty price tag.

"Every red-blooded car guy wants to be James Bond and drive an Aston Martin," says Angus Forsyth, managing director of Hagerty International. "However, if a six-figure DB5 does not fit into your budget we've selected collectible and authentic Bond cars that offer the same level of class and sophistication."

Vehicle values are from the Hagerty Price Guide (www.hagerty.com/valuationtools).

1. 1971 Ford Mustang Mach 1 – Diamonds are Forever (£16,300): The '71-'73 Mustang was arguably the most controversial of the first-generation Mustangs, though you might argue it's put on a bit of a middle age spread.
2. 1961 Sunbeam Alpine Series II – Dr No (£9,700): Stylish and well-built.
3. 1974 AMC Hornet – The Man with the Golden Gun (£1,200): AMC stepped up in a big way when with this very prominent product placement. Not many survived after Chrysler disposed of large numbers of spare parts after buying AMC.
4. 1981 Alfa Romeo GTV6 – Octopussy (£4,400): GTV6s are among the greatest collector car bargains available now. A starter Ferrari for under five grand.
5. 1977 Lotus Esprit S1 – The Spy Who Loved Me (£9,200):

Lotus Esprit: Huge success from 'The Spy Who Loved Me'.

After the famous Aston Martin DB5, the white Lotus Esprit is probably the sexiest and most recognized Bond car. They're surprisingly reasonable.

6. 1996 BMW Z3 – GoldenEye (£4,250): A fantastic bit of product placement!

7. 1997 BMW 750 iL – Tomorrow Never Dies (£3,950): Last stop before the bizarre Chris Bangle era.

8. 1969 Mercury Cougar XR7 – On Her Majesty's Secret Service (£14,700): Even though Bond didn't actually drive it, the car garnered the most screen time of any car in the movie (far more than Bond's Aston Martin DBS), and Diana Rigg drove it with the skill and verve of Bond himself.

9. 1980 Lotus Esprit Turbo – For Your Eyes Only (£11,500): Exhaust driven turbocharger catapulted – literally! – the car from a junior supercar to a real heavyweight capable of taking on the best from Italy without resorting to eight or 12 cylinders.

10. 2002 Aston Martin Vanquish – Die Another Day (£65,000): The Vanquish was Aston Martin's return to true supercar status. Not cheap at £65k, but worth it for a true James Bond Aston Martin!

CLERK TO THE GOVERNORS Linton Heights Junior School

Salary: £8.90-£9.91 per hours (Scale 4)
Hours: approx 150 per annum

This is a post which will be of interest to anyone who would like to support the governors in fulfilling their duties at Linton Heights Junior School. It offers a great opportunity to discover how schools work and to play an important role in assisting the governors to be effective at a strategic level. The school is looking for someone who has experience as an administrator, who is computer literate, who has skills in minuting meetings and who can work in a confidential manner.

This post would be ideally suited to someone who is well organised and who would be available to attend approximately fifteen evening/after-school meetings each school year.
The hours are flexible but we anticipate about 50 hours each term. Training will be available for the successful applicant.

The governors would be prepared to appoint a suitably qualified and experienced clerk.

For more information about this post and the duties it entails, or to request an application form, please contact the school office.

Linton Heights Junior School, Wheatshaf Way, Linton, Cambridge. CB21 4XB
Tel: 01223 892210 Fax: 01223 890059 Email: office@lintonheights.cambs.sch.uk

Closing Date: 12 noon Wednesday 21st November 2012

Interview Date: Monday 3rd December 2012

Linton Heights Junior School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. All staff will be expected to hold or be willing to obtain an enhanced CRB disclosure for this Authority.

COLLEGE

Data and Funding Administrators (2 posts)

Up to £17,568 pa Full time, maternity cover

You will be responsible for verifying and inputting student enrolment information. You will support the College in ensuring the correct funding is claimed from the relevant agencies and that audit conditions for student records are met and maintained.

You will hold a Level 2 qualification in Administration, have office experience, a working knowledge of spreadsheets and databases and a proven high level of accuracy and attention to detail.

Welfare Officer

Up to £13,271 pa Term time only, 30 hpw for 38 weeks

Your main role will be providing advice and guidance to learners on student finance, housing and welfare rights. You will be able to signpost learners to agencies who would provide health, mental health or emotional support. You may also be required to refer child protection issues to the relevant authorities.

As well as having a firm understanding of at least one key area; from welfare rights, housing, student finance and support mechanisms for young people; you will be able to demonstrate excellent interpersonal skills and experience of working with and supporting young people. You will hold a level 3 qualification and have proven organisational and listening skills.

Closing date for both above posts: 14 November 2012.

Learning Difficulty / Disability Support Co-ordinator

Up to £39,945 pa Full time

We require an individual with extensive experience of learning difficulties and disabilities to maximise the effectiveness and responsiveness of our Additional Learning Support (ALS) and Disability Support provision. Leading a team of learner support staff you will co-ordinate a range of learner assessment, parent and external agency liaison and monitor the progress, achievement and retention of learners.

You will have strong experience of conducting specialist assessments and teaching and supporting learners with learning difficulties or disabilities. You will also have experience in delivering training on specific areas of special educational needs (SEN) as well as a good understanding of current ALS funding. You will possess a degree or professional equivalent together with qualifications in teaching, at least one area of SEN training and an assessment practising certificate. Strong organisation and leadership skills will also be essential. Experience as a SENCO would be advantageous.

Closing date: 9 November 2012.

General Vacancies

Marketing Assistant

Based in St Ives, Cambridgeshire

RED Communications designs and manages marketing and public relations campaigns for international clients in the food sector. We aim to deliver excellent results in all the countries in which we operate, and report back to clients in a consistent and coordinated fashion.

We are looking for a dynamic assistant to support a number of our key accounts. Reporting to an account manager, this is a varied role for which you will need excellent intrapersonal skills to help implement our campaigns.

You will be able to work well with a range of people including supermarket contacts, suppliers, designers, photographers, freelancers, translation agencies and printers.

You will need to be motivated and have a willingness to adapt as the job grows and develops. The job will involve travel in the UK and, in time, abroad also.

Experience of using social media (Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn in particular) in a marketing and PR environment are also an advantage; as are foreign languages.

Kedington 2 Godmanchester Rov 1 CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, UNDER-15A

KEEPER Jack Davis made several late saves as superb Kedington beat the champions.

The teams were well matched, with the Kedington back four of Aaron Thorne, Sam Street, Lewis Head and Bailey Cassidy equal to Godmanchester's attacking line-up while the visitors' defence were also up to the task.

The breakthrough came after 30 minutes when George Mustoe broke up a Godmanchester raid and started a move which ended with Ellis Wiffen chasing a through ball, side-stepping the keeper and scoring.

Kedington's second came just after half time when Leon Bailey, Conor Rankin and Kieran Harrison combined for captain Jason Moore to take the ball in his stride and whip the ball past the keeper.

A few minutes later, Godmanchester finally managed to breach the home defence, but the hosts owed victory to man-of-the-match Davis, whose key blocks late in the game ensured the points.

Wickhambrook 6 Ramsey 2 CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, UNDER-17A

WICKHAMBROOK started on the back foot, with Ramsey pressing, and it was no surprise when the visitors took the lead on 20 minutes. Brook equalised almost immediately with the goal of the game, Jack Whiting picking up a loose ball 22 yards out and firing a stunning shot into the corner.

Ramsey regained the lead, but the hosts finally got into their stride and James Percy levelled with a left-foot shot from 16 yards.

Brook changed to 3-5-2 at half time and took charge. A Ramsey defender put through his own net under pressure from Jack Wheeler, and man-of-the-match Tom Warnock then set Tom Pinker away to make it 4-2.

Pinker netted the fifth after a fumble by the keeper, and skipper Harry Willett wrapped it up.

Arbury Aces 0 West Watting 3 CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, UNDER-13A

WRATTING were always in control from the off and Cordwell threaded a low cross for Bayford to slot home.

Cordwell tucked away the rebound after the Aces keeper parried Fellows' shot, and the third came just before the break when Ledwith split the defence and Cordwell fired in.

But, given their dominance, it was a surprise they did not add to their score in the second half.

Papworth Blasters 1 Thurlow 2 CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, UNDER-16B

LUKE Stearn scored twice as depleted Thurlow came from behind to win.

With four midfield players missing, strikers Stearn and Jordan Ryan had to play in the centre, and despite going behind, Thurlow started to settle into the game with wide players Tommy Bates and man-of-the-match Ashley Botton prominent.

They equalised from Stearn's free kick – awarded after a cross was controlled by a defender's arm – just outside the box.

And they thought they had taken the lead early in the second half when Harry Eden headed home Stearn's free kick, only to be ruled offside.

However, Stearn did put them ahead, firing home his sixth of the season from just inside the area.

He thought he had his hat-trick when captain Tommy Bates tapped the ball out of the keeper's grasp and laid the ball back, but the referee awarded a foul.

But Thurlow survived a late scare as Papworth had a goal disallowed for offside.

Shelford & Stapleford Strikers White 1 Aztecs White 9 CAMBS MINI LEAGUE, UNDER-9D

JORDAN Chippis struck five times as Aztecs made it five from five.

After a closely-contested opening 10 minutes, Lloyd Blackburn opened the scoring with a header from a Freddie Hounsborne corner. Aztecs then took control and central midfielder Chippis rattled a quickfire treble. Hounsborne made it five direct from a free kick, before Stapleford pulled a goal back with a direct free kick.

Chippis then took his tally to five and, after he was pulled down in the area, the referee played a good advantage to allow Blackburn to smash home the loose ball.

Oliver Scroggie rounded off the scoring when he converted Chippis' cross from the right.

Mighty Oakes

Off and running: Winner John Oakes (right) up with the front-runners soon after the start of the Thurlow 10 CP

JOHN Oakes was the toast of Haverhill Running Club after winning the Thurlow 10.

The host club's runner beat off the challenge of Ely Runners' Stephen Pettit and Saffron Striders' Chris Dodge to finish in an impressive 1hr 32sec.

The winner of the ladies' competition was Nicky Brinkmann of Bury St Edmunds, who knocked a staggering six minutes off the women's course record to finish in 1hr 8min 15sec.

Several other Haverhill runners took part in the multi-terrain event, which includes miles of farm tracks. Heavy rain before the event made the course tough for the 160 entrants.

Of the host club runners, David Bray was second home in 1:13.39 in 31st place, while Barry Barnes (1:17.13) and Ian Elden (1:17.15) just scraped in to the top 50. Darryl Buckley was 52nd in 1:18.09.

Alison Couldrey was first woman home for Haverhill in 1:24.13 in 75th place, followed immediately by Jackie Wareham, who won the female vet 50 trophy in 1:24.32.

Joaquim Monteiro finished 80th in 1:25.50. Other club runners following were Karen Wood (1:32.33), Terry Braverman (1:10th, 1:34.25), Mark Carpenter (1:12th, 1:35.31), Chris Brant (1:15th, 1:36.52) and Chris Bolton (1:22nd, 1:38.58).

Completing the line-up were three runners who had never run the distance before – Sharon Cole in 1:43.16, Simon Wallace 1:45.43 and Denise Ford in 1:45.45.

MP Matthew Hancock took part for the second year, finishing in a respectable time of 1:16.45.

The organisers would like to thank Thurlow Estates for allowing the event to be held, and sponsors JMP Furniture Solutions, Samuel's Estate Agents and Sweatshop. Further thanks goes to Ipswich Building Society, Feelgood Fitness, Icen Water, Haverhill Town Council, HairWorks and Genzyme.

Skirmish: Haverhill skipper Adam Hunt (right) and Derren Carew bring down a Felixstowe attack with the help of Dan Bishop (No 6).

Haverhill march to Monty's Beat

Felixstowe 5 Haverhill 53

GREENE KING IPA
EASTERN COUNTIES LEAGUE, DIVISION TWO

NEW signing Monty Beaton scored on his debut and set up two further tries as Haverhill turned on the style with an exciting display of flowing rugby.

An 80m kick from Kieran Ewens after only 30 seconds saw three Haverhill players pressure the Felixstowe full-back, whose poor clearance was gathered by George Foley, who released Mickey Lansdowne for the first try, which was converted by Ewens.

Felixstowe managed to gain a penalty on 30 metres, but the kick was short and it was Ewens' boot on 20 minutes that made the score 10-0.

On 26 minutes Lansdowne charged down a 22m drop out and although he could not quite get his second try, the subsequent 5m scrum saw Gavin Hope and No 8 Kieran McDonagh combine for the latter to score.

Skipper Adam Hunt was next to touch down to make it 20-0, but Ewens limped off on 32 minutes and Felixstowe got their only score about five minutes later after a scrum near the visitors' line.

It was in the second half that Haverhill really cut loose with a series of flowing moves.

Hope released Beaton to score under the posts, for a converted try, and Beaton then ran 60 metres and supplied the perfect pass for Hunt to dot down. The conversion made it 34-5.

Another huge breakout on 65 minutes saw Derren Carew make the hard yards and the quick-thinking Mike Woods take a quick tap penalty and score.

Lansdowne then released Gian-Paulo Nash for to make it 44-5 on 75 minutes, with Hunt converting. And, on the final whistle, Dan Bishop set up Woods for his second try. Hunt's conversion completed the scoring. George Foley was man of the match.

Haverhill are at home to Norwich Union on Saturday, kick-off 2pm.

Strong goal in vain

Haverhill 1 Mildenhall 3

THURLOW NUNN LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

GREG Strong's goal was not enough as Haverhill suffered a 3-1 defeat at home to leaders Mildenhall.

Darryl Coakley had a long-range effort tipped over by the Rovers keeper before Chris Thomas grabbed his first goal for the visitors after pouncing on Andrew Wood's through ball on the stroke of half time.

Thomas doubled Mildenhall's lead just after the interval following a run from inside his own half.

Strong pulled one back for the hosts before Dan Cornwell missed a gilt-edged opportunity to equalise.

Wood fired wide from the edge of the box for Mildenhall before Ryan Henshaw's poor back header allowed Thomas to complete his treble five minutes from time.

Peter Betts, Haverhill boss, said: "The scoreline definitely flattered them. We didn't play badly, we just got punished for being wasteful in front of goal.

"We also made an individual error at 2-1 just

Leaders make Rovers pay for their misses when we looked like getting back into the game. But the first goal was a bit of a killer because we were totally dominant in the first half and made two or three gilt-edged chances only for them score right on half time.

"We still felt a bit sorry for ourselves when we came back out and they scored again, but they had four shots on goal in 90 minutes and scored three.

"They came away with the three points, but that's why they are where they are at the moment."

Mildenhall manager Christian Appleford said: "It was awful conditions for both sides and we've both tried to play the right way, but I think we deserved the win."

Haverhill return to action at Kirkley & Pakefield on Saturday, 3pm.

Off balance:
Dan Cornwell manages to get his shot away despite the attentions of a Mildenhall defender.
